Hello,

We see no evidence that you are actually removing your domains and services from us.

In fact, you have done precisely the opposite.

You have continued to actively use our services.

You have not changed nameservers.

You have not changed IP addresses.

You have not used the transfer codes to transfer out.

Instead, you have changed owner for all your domains and actively chosen to lock the domains against transferring out for 60 days.

And now you are making threats.

Your original deadline was in 2017. You keep asking for extensions, first by pleading, then by shouting, now by making threats.

We cannot keep customers who make threats.

You give us no choice.

Your services with us are, as of now, terminated.

As you have knowingly locked your domains for 60 days with us, we have disabled them completely, as per previous warnings, due to the repeated terms violations.

We offer you this:

We can delete the domain names now, which should make them available for new registration 35 days later.

Best regards,
Jan
